MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of Communities In Schools of Walton County is to surround students with a community of support, empowering them to stay in school and achieve in life.

Working with both schools and the community, Communities In Schools does whatever it takes to help kids stay in school and succeed in life. Based directly inside schools throughout Walton County, Communities In Schools connects students and their families to basic and critical educational and community-based resources, tailored to each student's specific needs.

Operating in nine schools, Communities In Schools of Walton County serves every middle and high school in the Walton County Public School District, as well as the elementary, middle and high schools in the Social Circle City School District. We serve more than 8500 students with school-wide drop-out prevention services and work one-on-one with nearly 350 of the students who are most at risk. As the nation's leading dropout prevention organization, Communities In Schools is the only one proven to both decrease dropout rates and increase graduation rates.

WHY IT'S IMPORTANT

Every year, 1.2 million students drop out of school. What that means is every 26 seconds, a student in America loses his or her path to a better future. By helping students stay in school and succeed in life, we are building a stronger America, where every person is capable of reaching his or her greatest potential. After all, each child is our child, and our collective future.

Walton County's graduation rates exceed the state and national averages, yet nearly one out of every five students who enters the 9th grade in Walton County will not graduate four years later. On average, each student who leaves school without a diploma costs the local economy more than $600,000 in lost wages and government assistance over the course of his or her lifetime. In Walton County, that figure totals to more than $110 MILLION each year.

HOW WE DO WHAT WE DO

Communities In Schools trains and places highly qualified site coordinators and supporting staff directly into schools. Once there, our job is to connect students and their families to basic and critical community resources, tailored to each student's specific needs. By providing students with a one-on-one relationship with a caring adult, we create a safe place to learn and grow, a healthy start to a healthy future, a path toward marketable skills upon graduation and a chance to give back to peers and the community. As a result, Communities In Schools has become the nation's largest and most effective dropout prevention organization and the only one proven to both decrease dropout rates and increase graduation rates.
